

Support is here when you need it

Maui Fires

When a big event affects our lives and our communities, it's understandable to feel unsettled and unsure about the future.

Help is available

- Finding financial assistance
- Applying for disaster relief
- Understanding how to replace important documents
- Connecting to a counselor to talk about what you've experienced
- And more

Tips to keep you and your family safe

- Listen to local officials for updates and instructions — evacuate if necessary
- Check in with family and friends by texting or using social media
- Return home only when authorities indicate it is safe
- Watch out for debris and downed power lines
- Photograph the damage to your property in order to assist in filing an insurance claim

There are a variety of resources available to yourself and loved ones on OptumWellbeing.com

Things you can do to recover from a traumatic event

Talk to someone

Reach out to friends or family for support. It's one simple way to help process a natural disaster.

Choose when to connect

Disconnecting from media may give you time to focus on important things — like your health or stress management.

Keep things in perspective

Try to find something you've learned from the negative experience. It may be helpful to gain a broader perspective.

Focus on your feelings

Acknowledge your feelings as they occur to you. Self-awareness is an important first step in learning to manage your feelings.

Pay attention to your health

Don't forget the importance of regular exercise,* a healthy diet and good sleep.

Creating a communication and action plan

Be prepared for the future by putting together a family communication and action plan. This helps you understand how to contact one another and reconnect in case you get separated, or in case the internet or mobile phones are not available.

1. Collect contact information for everyone in your family and other important information, including doctors, medical facilities, schools and service providers.
2. Give a paper copy of this information to everyone in your family and make sure they carry it with them at all times.
3. Review as a family what you would do to meet up in an emergency. Practice your plan.
